

Introduction to the Africa Scout Day Troop Programme

The programme theme is Contract Scout Clay: Out in the Contract Dushveld - Celebrating African Heritage and the Impact of Scouting Across the Continent.

Africa Scout Day, celebrated annually on March 13th, is an opportunity to reflect on the profound impact of Scouting throughout Africa. It highlights the shared heritage, culture, and contributions Scouts make to their communities, fostering a sense of unity and pride as part of a global movement.

This programme focuses on educating Scouts about the broader Scouting movement across Africa. It includes an interactive quiz that encourages Scouts to explore Scouting's history, achievements, and cultural diversity while strengthening Patrol bonds and inspiring a sense of belonging to a greater cause. The programme should be presented during the month of March 2025, at a Troop meeting closest to 13th March 2025.

Why Africa Scout Day Matters

Africa Scout Day serves as a reminder that Scouts belong to a larger movement that spans the African continent and the globe. It encourages Scouts to understand their place in this rich history and inspires them to continue contributing to their communities with pride and purpose.

Let's celebrate Africa Scout Day together by exploring, learning, and sharing!

In Dithini , players attempt to stack up various tin cans into a predetermined shape, while opponents can eliminate stacking players by hitting them with a ball. Tin cans are stacked up on top of each other in a tower in the centre of the field. All Scouts stand around the perimeter of the field. One Patrol (or around 4 Scouts) enters the field and knocks over the tins to start the game. The Patrol in the field aims to re-stack up the tins and jump over them to win and score 3 points. The Scouts around the field have a ball and try to throw and hit the Scouts in the middle of the field. If a Scout from the stacking team is hit, they exit the field and join the perimeter. The throwing Patrols win and score one point each if they hit out all the stacking team members before they all jump over a stacked tower of tins. 	 A variety different sized tin cans or similar. 19:55	25 min	 A Typical African Thunderstorm Brief: Your Patrol is out in the African Bushveld on a hunt for food, hoping to secure an antelope for dinner. Unfortunately, luck hasn't been on your side. As you scan the horizon, you spot a storm brewing in the distance. Drawing on your extensive experience with African thunderstorms, you know you have only twenty minutes before it hits. Your task is to work as a Patrol to quickly construct a shelter capable of withstanding the storm and keeping everyone safe. Rules: Time Limit: Patrols have only 20 minutes to construct a waterproof shelter that can accommodate their entire Patrol. Equipment: The TS will determine what equipment and materials are allowed for the task. Waterproof Test: At the end of the 20 minutes, the Patrol must gather under their shelter while the ATS sprinkles water over it to test its waterproofness. • Alternative Option: If your Troop meeting area is unsuitable for outdoor activities or if the equipment cannot get wet, Patrols can instead stand together and discuss the design of their shelter, explaining how it would provide effective	• Any suitable equipment around the Troop meeting place that the TS allows the Patrols to use.	TS / TL	• Patrol co-operation • Shelter building for Traveller	 The TS should know the capabilities of their Troop. If the Scouts are proficient in this kind of task, then throw a curve ball and prevent them from using tarpaulins. On the other hand, If the Scouts have never done this, then allow and equipment. However, no tents may be used.
20:20	20 min	Africa Scout Day Quiz While the storm rages outside your shelters, it is a perfect opportunity to broaden your knowledge about Scouting's history, culture, and heritage across Africa by participating in the Africa Scout Day Quiz . Quiz: Scouts participate in the Africa Scout Day Quiz in the chosen format (In Patrols/ Whole Troop) – see comments/notes. Recognition: At the end of the quiz, Patrol points are tallied, and the winning Patrol is recognized for their teamwork and knowledge of Scouting on the African Continent.	If doing the Patrol Format ; • 1 × Pen/pencil per Patrol • Print sufficient copies of the Africa Scout Day Quiz - Scouts , one for each Patrol. • Print one copy of the Africa Scout Day Quiz - TS - this one has the answers ! If doing the Whole Troop Format ; • Print one copy of the Africa Scout Day Quiz - TS .	TS / PLs	Africa.	Format Options: 1. In Patrols: • Patrols compete by completing the printed multiple- choice quiz as a Patrol. • The Patrol that finishes the quiz in the shortest time with the most correct answers wins. 2. As a Whole Troop: • All Scouts participate together, with questions posed by the Adult Leader verbally to the entire Troop. • Points are awarded to the first Scout to answer correctly, accumulating toward their Patrol's total score.

20:40	10 min	 Hunting Tactics Brief: In the African Bushveld, there are many different kinds of antelope. Many years ago, when our ancestors lived off the land, they relied on their hunting skills to secure food. Using bows and arrows, they had to carefully sneak up on their prey, moving with increasing stealth as they got closer. Now that the storm has passed, your Patrol can resume the hunt and put these skills into practice. Instructions: In their Patrol Corners, the PL will lead the activity. The PL should teach the Patrol the five stages of stalking progression: Cautious Approach, Upright Crouch, Feline Crawl, Leopard Crawl and Seal Crawl 	• If the PL's are unfamiliar with the progression it is on page 192 of the Scout Trail	ATS & PLs	 Leadership Development (PL) Skills Training Personal Growth. 	 The PL should thoroughly prepare their knowledge of this section in advance. The TS should uphold the Patrol system and allow the PLs to take the lead in teaching. During this time, the ATS can set up the next activity.
20:50	20 min	 spread around the Scout meeting area, and the bows will be elastic bands given to the Scouts. Rules Relay System: Patrols line up at one end of the hall and send Scouts out one at a time in relay fashion to "hunt." 'Arrows': Each Scout is given 3 elastic bands to use as 'arrows.' The Scouts will start on the opposite side of the meeting area from where the 'antelopes' are placed. Stalking Progression: Scouts must demonstrate the correct stalking progression to approach the rope line. If a Scout makes noise or performs the progression incorrectly, they must return to the starting line and begin again. Shooting the 'antelope' (tin cans): Upon reaching the rope line, Scouts take their shots using the elastic bands. If a Scout hits an 'antelope', an ATS retrieves the tin and hands it to the Scout to take back to their Patrol. 	 Position each tin so a significant portion overhangs the edge of the surface, making them easier to knock over. Mark a line 2 meters from the nearest tin 	ATS	 Using what was learned from the PL. Encourages teamwork, skill, and focus while providing an engaging and fun activity for the Scouts! Patrol Competition. 	 The TS can decide how much light is used during the activity. While the Scouts should be able to see the tins, keeping the area dimly lit enhances the challenge of the stalking progression. The focus of the activity is not on complete concealment but on demonstrating proper stalking techniques.

21:10	10 min	Clean Up • As Scouts we never leave a mess out in the African Bushveld. • All shelters should be packed away in this time • Elastic bands and tin cans should also be collected.		PLs	• Establish Pride and Care in the Scouts' meeting place.
21:20	10 min	Closing Your usual Troop Closing Ceremony	• Flag, Payer Book, List of Announcements	TS / TL	• Tradition, structure, discipline and order.	 Recognize efforts made by Patrols and individual Scouts during the meeting. Remind Scouts of the ongoing commitment to promoting their own health and well-being.
